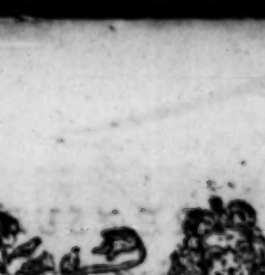
CONTINUATION

Of the JOURNAL of OCCURRENCES in BOSTON: Begun in this Paper of the 3d of November last, and continued in those of December 12, 15, 22, 29, January 12, February 9, and March 30.

BOSTON, JANUARY 9.



AMONG the bills found by the late grand jury, one was against the two soldiers who affronted Mr. Gray, a merchant of this town, by stopping him for not answering to their challenge, and then putting him under guard, of which mention has been made before; our young K—g's Att——y, refused his assistance in drawing it up, alledging it is said, that "If a soldier should, with his fixed bayonet at the breast of an inhabitant, stop and detain him two hours, it would not in law be adjudged an assault." It is hoped a court and jury will otherwise determine it, and that it will no longer be a doubt, even in the minds of the most sceptical, that the law of the land is to yield to the maxims of a mere œconomy of the military, in civil communities.

Upon the arrival of letters here, brought by the October packet, it was given out that L—d H—b—gh, in a letter to G. B. expressed his approbation of the C——r's conduct in not calling for troops to aid the civil power, the last summer, when the council advised against this measure; but that, at the same time, his lordship reprehends the council for giving such advice. This report does not indeed gain credit among sensible people, who cannot suppose that L—d K—b—gh would take upon himself to reprehend his Majesty's council, who, doubtless agreeable to their oaths, act according to their best judgment, tho' from the idea, which his lordship, at so great a distance, had been led to form of this affair, he might apprehend them mistaken. Nothing however can be plainer, and the government at home, is perhaps before now thoroughly sensible, that this advice of council, was wise and just, tending to procure the true service of his Majesty, and the peace and welfare of this his province. One cannot forbear, however, to remark from this report, and the quarter from which it comes, how indifferently some people, would represent Lord H—b—gh as a mere echo to every sentiment suggested from this side of the water, however impolitick and absurd. It is not doubted but the ministry have prudently exerted the utmost of their influence at the first meeting of parliament, to obtain a parliamentary sanction to the step taken by them, in sending troops to America, lest those disagreeable consequences should have followed thereon, as has been practised by those who disapprov'd of so extraordinary a measure.

January 10. It is said orders have been given by C——re H—d, for all his little Guards Cutters to put out of harbour on a cruise along the coast, and in our bays, doubtless by direction or advice of of C. B. and the C—m—rs; who are in hopes that the season of the year may have encouraged some captains or owners to aim at making a few savings, with regard to the new and disputed duties; or whose ignorance may have led them into mistakes, of which they may make advantages upon discovery. We cannot but regret, that an officer appointed by the great Mr. Pitt, and who, during the late war, was so successful in destroying the trade of our foreign enemies, should now be so unfortunately employed in distressing our own. It is however well worthy the notice of the British merchants and manufacturers; that, notwithstanding all the diligence, low arts and severity of the C——r and C—m——rs, supported and assisted by a navy and standing army, not one article has as yet been made prize of, that in the least interferes either with the growth of manufactures of the mother country.

January 11. We are told that there has been great murmurings and uneasiness among the soldiery, who, instead of being paid their subsistence money, as on their first arrival, have for some time past, been obliged to receive the same in beef, which our butchers have agreed to deliver the contractor through the year, at one penny three farthings per. lb. the men alledge, that with their own money they could furnish themselves better provisions at a cheaper rate; Beef since their arrival being sold at one penny half penny per. lb. mutton at a less price, and the offals of both at a mere trifle; and fish so cheap that a cod of 15lb. weight just out of the water sells for about 9d sterling, that as geese have been sold at about one shilling sterling a piece, turkeys of the same weight at 1s. and 4d. fowls at 4d. rabits at 1d. partridges 3d. half penny, and other wild fowl in plenty, and the same proportion, they could, had they cash, have now and then an article of this sort, in their mess as well as their officers; but that now they are worse off in the midst of the greatest plenty and variety, than when in Halifax without it; on the other hand it's said, that provisions will probably be higher in the spring, and if the men should have money instead thereof, too considerable a part of it would be converted into spirituous liquors rather than eatables; how this matter will end a little time may discover; this may with truth be said, that the inhabitants are far from interesting themselves in this dispute, or doing any thing that may increase the present ferment among the troops.

January 12. The detention of the Portsmouth vessel already mentioned, at this season of the year, on account of a barrel of wine found on board her, is like to prove very detrimental to a great number of merchants in those parts, who had goods on freight; one gentleman in Kittery has a large ship ready for sailing, waiting only for some necessaries shipt him by said vessel.

A coasting vessel owned in Biddeford, having according to custom been boat from thence with a load of boards for Newport, without being cleared out, was there refused an entry, and seized by the Collector, agreeable to orders received from the C—m——rs; and notwithstanding it clearly appeared that not the least fraud was intended by the master or owner, but that his procedure was wholly owing to a supposition that it would be justified by custom; the vessel was libelled in a Court of Admiralty, condemned, and sold by a decree of said Court: This is not the only instance of an honest trader's being taken in and ruined, by presuming on a customary indulgence; indulgences which in some places are often given and frequently withdrawn without previous and public notice, whereby to the scandal of office they become means, in the hands of the revengeful and hungry officer, to ensnare and entrap the unwary, but honest trader.

It is confidently reported that A——y G——l on the other side of the water, has given it as his opinion, that the Officers of the Custom-House cannot legally oblige, and ought not to insist upon those vessels who coast it from one part of the province to another, being cleared out as is usual on foreign voyages; but notwithstanding this, there is a greater strictness than ever with regard to such vessels, to the unspeakable worry, and also expence of the concerned; there is however this good grows out of the practice, that the more difficulty and charge there is in conveying and transporting British wares from one town to another, the greater encouragement and stimulus is given to the inhabitants to manufacture for themselves, or become more frugal in the consumption of all foreign articles.

January 13. The present scarcity of money is to great, owing to the destruction of trade, and the monopoly that a large number of revenue officers, placemen, &c. have made of the same by the instrumentality of the late duties; that some gentlemen among us who have their monies in the British funds, have given orders to their merchants to withdraw or dispose of the same, expecting greater advantages may be made with those monies, on this side the water; perhaps other reasons operate; stocks had certainly fallen 6 pr. cent: In October last—and advices intimate, that they were like to be still further affected by the measures pursuing.

The Honourable House of Representatives of the province of New-York by a manly, patriotick conduct on a trying occasion, have fully supported the character of an American Assembly; in the course of their late session they completed a petition to his Majesty, another to the Lords, and a remonstrance to the Commons of Great-Britain, in order to obtain a redress of grievances; and then took into consideration the circular letters from the assemblies of Virginia and Massachusetts Bay, which they unanimously resolved to answer in the most respectful manner, and fully to concur with the sentiments of the said Assemblies expressed in those letters; and having entered into a number of spirited resolves in favour of liberty and the rights of their constituents; their Governor was then pleased to honour them by a dissolution of the Assembly. The Speaker of the late House of Representatives for this province, has just received the following letter from the Honourable Philip Livingston, Esq; late Speaker of the House of Representatives of New-York.

To the honourable Thomas Cushing, Esq; Speaker of the late House of Representatives for the province of the Massachusetts Bay.

SIR, 14th December 1768.

BY order of the General Assembly of this colony, I am to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 11th of February last, and am directed to assure you that they are much obliged to your House of Representatives, for freely communicating their sentiments, on a subject so interesting to all the colonies; and are so far from considering it as a desire of dictating to the other Assemblies, that they highly applaud them for their attention to American liberty, and hope the measures they have taken on this important occasion, will fully convince them, that the General Assembly of the colony of New-York harmonizes with those of the other colonies in their representations for redress; they perfectly agree with your House in their opinion of the fatal consequences which must inevitably attend the operation of the several acts of Parliament, imposing taxes and duties in the American colonies; and have therefore prepared petitions to his Majesty, and the Lords spiritual and temporal, and a representation to the Commons of Great-Britain, praying relief from the grievances they labour under. They entertain with your House the firmest confidence in his Majesty's known clemency and tender regard for all his subjects, and the candour and justice of the British Parliament; and are not without hopes that the united supplications of all the colonies will prevail on our most gracious Sovereign and the Parliament, to grant effectual redress, and put a stop, for the future, to measures so directly repugnant to the true interest of the mother country and the colonies. In the name, and by order of the General Assembly,

I am, With the greatest Respect,
Your most obedient humble Servant,
PHILIP LIVINGSTON, Speaker.

P. S. Robert Charles, Esq; Agent for this colony, at the court of Great-Britain, is instructed to co-operate with the Agents of the other colonies in their applications for redress.

At a C——l last Thursday G. B. exhibited another specimen of the inexpressible littleness of his mind and the fullness of its enmity against the people: It seems some boys were the other evening playing at foot-ball near the province House, when either by accident or design, they threw down one of the centry boxes at the gate; this rude and mischievous behaviour of children, the G——r has represented to the C——l as a serious and important matter, upon which he requested their advice or concurrence, in giving orders to the King's Attorney to prosecute them for the same, which we are told has been done; and we doubt not an account of this little-minded boyish trick, will be transmitted to Administration with such glosses and comments, as may have a tendency to impress them with the heinousness of the offence; and as another proof of the necessity of regular troops, to keep the inhabitants in order. We cannot but here observe that notwithstanding the great insults offered, and injuries done the inhabitants by our new comers, and the danger we have been in from their practices with the negroes; that the G——r has been so far from taking any steps to secure or relieve us therefrom, that he has even suffered them to riot by him wholly unnoticed.

January 14. We have lately been favoured with the King's most gracious speech to both Houses of Parliament; wherein his Majesty is pleased to express his concern, that a spirit of faction which he was in hopes had subsided, had gain'd strength in his American colonies; and in one in particular to a considerable degree.—It is observable that the countenances of our enemies appear very jocund upon this occasion, while his Majesty's loyal subjects are distressed, that he has conceived such an unfavourable sentiment of the temper of his colonists; who far from the remotest disposition to faction or rebellion, are struggling, as they apprehend, for a constitution which supports the crown; and for the rights derived to them by their charter and confirmed by the declaration of his Majesty's glorious ancestors, William and Mary, at that important Æra, the Revolution. We shall make no further observations, but only recite a Paragraph which contains the sentiments of truth—"It is a maxim of the English law, and a principle founded "in reason, that the King can do no wrong" and we are ready to suppose "hand, that in the present case the ministry have done some; but "that the concern which his Majesty has been graciously pleased to "express, in regard to the colonies in general, and the supposed dis- "position of one in particular, is wholly grounded upon the misin- "formation, and false representations of those, who, if they do not "sufficiently revere truth, ought to tremble at the thought of decei- "ving Majesty, and of plunging the greatest and happiest empire "which the sun ever shone upon, into astonishment, anxiety and con- "fusion! Perhaps accounts have been transmitted home similar to "those said to have been sent from hence to New-York, Nova-Scotia, "&c. in September last, viz. that a certain ca—le was taken pos- "session of, a beacon erected, and thirty-thousand men in arms to "oppose the landing of the King's troops.—A very few weeks will "effect different impressions, in regard to the colonists, and produce "very different measures, which we venture to predict, will termi- "nate in the prosperity of the whole empire."

January 15. The friends to a constitutional union and harmony between Great-Britain and her colonies, cannot but hope, and fervently pray, that wise and faithful counsellors may stand about the King, men fearing God and hating covetousness; and that the things which belong to the national peace, may not be hidden from the eyes of those who are entrusted with the management of the national concerns.

January 16. An advertisement of Commodore Hood, in this day's paper, would lead the public to conclude that the inhabitants of this town and province were disposed to encourage the desertion of seamen from his Majesty's ships in this harbour; as he therein informs, "that between forty and fifty had deserted since the 4th of last month, many of which are harboured and concealed in the country, not twenty miles from Boston." From the general character of this officer, we cannot suppose that he has designed unjustly to cast this reflection upon the inhabitants, in order to justify a severe impress for the manning of the ships under his command; but rather that the Commodore has been grossly imposed upon by those enemies to truth and the peace of the colonies and nation, which unfortunately for an honest man, in the company he must disperse with for the present: Justice to ourselves however, requires, that we contradict so disobliging an assertion. We have no troops in this town, or near it, to whom the merchants apply for seamen; and sailors, especially at this season of the year, can be of no kind of service in the country, and their manners and behaviour are too disagreeable to our country people, to permit of their supporting or harbouring any of them: The seamen who desert from what is now justly termed in a time of peace, their wooden prisons, immediately make out of the province for safety, and to seek voyages, not being able to remain on shore for want of the wages left behind them! This was notoriously the case in the late war: We were not favoured with one station ship during the whole of it, but were obliged at our own expence, to build and man a number of ships of war, for the protection of our trade and seas; notwithstanding which, the King's ships came from every quarter, in order to get re-manned; those of their companies that could afford it went into the other governments, and our trade was so distressed by impresses, that I affert a truth, in declaring that seamen's wages in this place, were above fifty per cent. higher than in those parts which were not visited by any of the ships of war.

Court of Admiralty on Mr. Hancock's libel still continues their inquisition; it is said two most infamous fellows are employed by the C—n——rs, to pick up persons for evidence.

January 18. This being the day appointed for the celebration of the Queen's birth, there was a general muster of the troops in the Common; the thin appearance made by the several regiments, fully evinced that their being quartered in this town, was a measure as impolitick as it was illegal. A gentleman in P——t, when speaking of their arrival in Boston, added, "I am very glad that the trial of N—th A——ca and G—t-B——n has been made; for those disturbers of the public peace, and subverters of government, are now acquainted both with us and themselves."——We are so, and wish we could justly return the compliment; It may not be improper to tell that little S——n, that this province alone, raised four times the number of troops now in town, in less weeks than it has taken months to collect this body of regulars from all parts of the continent; and that with our troops we took Louisbourg, and thereby purchased a peace for Europe, for a less sum, than the Boston expedition will cost the nation; and that if the Court of Versailles had foolishly taken it into their heads to have sent twice the number of troops to have taken Boston, as the court of London has sent, as it is said, to support the laws which protect us, the conduct of the Bostonians would have convinced the world, that Americans took a pride to vie with Britons in spirit and resolution upon a justifiable occasion.

Upon the arrival of the King's speech, while a few seemed to enjoy a triumph, the greater part were of opinion, that the warmth and severity of temper against America, to which administration had been wrought up by cruel misrepresentations from this side the water, would subside as soon as a fair state of facts could be obtained. We have the pleasure to find, by the arrival of Capt. Scott, that this opinion was not ill-founded; the addresses of the House of Lords and C—m——ns on the King's Speech, usually a kind of echo of the Speech, is somewhat fainter than the original, they speak of us as fellow subjects, and not as rebels and traitors who have thrown off government, take notice of our grievances, and intimate there will be a redress. It seems that the transactions of the town of Boston in Sept. last, in making mention of a law of this province that requires all the inhabitants to be provided with arms, and in proposing that the several towns should make choice of persons, there being no Assembly, to join in humble petitions to our gracious Sovereign, for the redress of grievances, and to prevent rash and violent measures, at so critical a season, were a principal part of those misrepresentations. It is certain that those transactions were not in any degree contrary to law; whatever wicked intentions have been basely attributed to those who were in favour of them, by such as presume to censure and judge the secret thoughts of men, and to attribute the vilest motives to all who oppose their selfish views and dangerous innovations: Very few can now doubt, that no art has been unemployed, no pains spared by some men among us, to represent those proceedings of the town, not only as illegal, but to the highest degree factious and seditious; one man in particular, whose opinion ought to have great weight, if his moderation, judgment and honesty were equal to his station, has endeavoured to make it be believed here, that these transactions, amount to treason itself, and that they would be regarded in this light on the other side of the water; if any thing could have driven us into violent measures, the base, irritating, mad conduct of the man we are speaking of, must have done it; but our loyalty and tender affection for our Mother Country, notwithstanding her usage of us, prevented this effect; the sword once drawn, might have been drawn forever: The vote of the town, respecting being provided with arms, was agreeable to a law of the province, and at a time when a principal officer at Halifax, had wrote up that a war with France was inevitable; the Committee of Convention was not formed, as has been basely represented, upon the plan of 1689,—nor was it an actual assumption of the powers of government; the Committee utterly disclaimed all governmental powers and authority: and only considered themselves as persons chosen in a most critical season, to consult and advise for the peace and welfare of the province and nation. That government and the people of Britain, now view things in this light, is as much matter of joy to this loyal people, as it is of fear and terror to the great Accuser of the colonies in general, and this province in particular.

CHARLES-TOWN, APRIL 6.

THE prudent conduct of government, in ordering Joseph Coffill, who had assumed the title of Colonel, and some extraordinary powers, and with his party had committed divers excesses, to disperse, has had the happy effect of once more restoring peace and good order amongst the inhabitants of the Western settlements, who, exasperated by the tyrannical conduct of this man, had assembled in a large body towards the close of last month, in order to compel him to shew what powers he was invested with, and if they had found that he was not cloathed with authority, to have brought him to justice, at all events. Both parties were encamped within musket-shot of each other, on Saludy-River, when the orders to Coffill arrived, and thus a great deal of bloodshed was prevented. The Colonels Richardson, Thomson, and McGirt, gentlemen of great reputation, and highly esteemed by the whole body of honest back settlers, we are told, exerted themselves upon this occasion, with great spirit, discretion, and success.

The substance of the last advices from England, to the 5th of February last, is, that the affairs of John Wilkes, Esq; wore an unpromising aspect; that his first election as Alderman for Farringdon-Ward without, having been set aside, occasioned by some irregularity in the proceedings, he was re-elected on the 25th of January, with the greatest unanimity; that his Writs of Error against the two Verdicts, for which he is a prisoner, had been disallowed, and both judgments confirmed; that a very full House of Commons had entered upon the consideration of his petition, and he had been examined before them; that Serjeant Glynn spoke admirably upon the occasion, and Alderman Wilkes behaved with great firmness and decency, but it was thought the resolutions of Parliament would not be in favour of the Patriot, on account of his publication of Lord Weymouth's letter to Mr. Ponton, with an introduction which was stiled seditious and inflammatory; that the affairs of America, continued to engage the very serious attention of parliament, and very full houses, but that nothing of any great consequence had yet been finally determined.

Last Thursday Capt. Charles Brown, of the Scooner Pitt, met with the wreck of a square-rigged vessel, in seven fathom water, off Seewee Bay. She had carried away her masts, part of the splinter of one of which was about ten feet out of water, and had been painted white: He supposes she may have foundered at her anchors.

Friday last sailed for St. Augustine, the Scooner Broughton-Island-Packet, Capt. Peter Bachop, with Capt. Scott's company of the Royal Regiment of Artillery on board.

Last Saturday the Lady of His Excellency the Right Hon. Lord Charles-Greville Montagu, Governor in Chief, &c. of this Province, was safely delivered of a Daughter.

Sunday last embarked and sailed for Philadelphia, in the Sloop Means, Thomas Blundell master, Thomas Coffins, and John Taylor, Esqrs. of Jamaica, to complete their tour of America, after which the former proposes to go to Corsica, to see the famous Paschal Paoli. Mr. Hasenclever, of Rotterdam, also embarked in said vessel.

The Rev. Mr. Panting, who arrived here last week, is not Assistant to the Rector of St. Philip's parish, but came over from England, to take charge of the Free-School here.

Last Sunday arrived here by land, from North-Carolina, making the tour of this continent, Capt. Valentine Gardner, and Edmund Tyrell, Esquire.

The Coasting Scooners in this harbour being reckoned last Monday morning, their number amounted to 67—not one of them employed in illicit or contraband trade.

Last Monday morning, John Mackenzie, Esq; was married to Miss Sarah Smith, daughter of Thomas Smith, Esq; (of Broad-Street) immediately after which the new married couple set out for Castle-Brawn, Mr. Mackenzie's seat at Goose Creek.

The same day Col. Scott, with the hon. Capt. Sutherland, of his Majesty's 26th regiment, and Mr. William Henderson, embarked on board the Ship Dolphin, Capt. Henry Simblets, for London; which ship sailed over the Bar yesterday.

Wednesday the Hon. John Rutherford, Esq; embarked and sailed in the Scooner Molly, on his return to North-Carolina.

The 28th past, the Saw-Mill belonging to John Rowan, Esq; about 18 miles above Wilmington in North-Carolina, was entirely consumed by fire, together with upwards of 100,000 feet of lumber lately sawed for the Barbados market, whither Mr. Rowan and his family had lately gone.

The 25th past the Sloop Nancy, David Burch master, was spoke with in Lat. 33. 53, Long. 55. 20, all well, by Capt. William Scott, of the Betty Greg, arrived here from Cork. Capt. Scott also informs us, that the Ship Pennsylvania Farmer, James Blair master, from Philadelphia for Newry, put into Cork the 23d of January last, all well.

The Snow Governor Wright, Thomas Hall master, from Bristol, is arrived at Savannah in Georgia.

Omitted in the List of Parish Officers in our last.

Mr. Daniel Cannon, } Church-Wardens for St. Philip's.
John Poaug, Esq; }

In the last paragraph of the Charles Town News in our last, for the Bilander Ceres, read Bilander Africa.

THEY return their thanks to their FRIENDS and CUSTOMERS for their favours received, and being under a necessity of closing their concerns as soon as possible, they will be additionally obliged to those indebted to them, to discharge the same this crop, that they may be enabled to settle the demands that may be against the copartnership: And, as there is a very large amount of debts in open accompts, that have been long standing, they must insist on the same being paid, or otherwise settled to their satisfaction, as a neglect of so reasonable a demand, will be attended with disagreeable consequences.

SCOTS OSNABRUGS, by the Bale or Piece;—RED PORT, &c.—CLARET, in Quart Bottles, by the Cask or Dozen, to be sold cheap, by DAVID & JOHN DEAS.

TO BE SOLD, in AUGUSTA,

For no other reason than that the present Owner's ill State of health, and his engagement in another branch of business, will not allow him to pay proper attention to it:

AS compleat and well-found a FARM or PLANTATION, as any in this province, containing 500 acres of exceeding good land, 250 acres of which is inclosed, and under good fence; fine timber of oak and hickory on the remaining 250 acres, a compleat dwelling house, newly glazed and painted, in which are two chambers, a dining-room and hall, four very good shade-rooms, and three fire places, a very good store, 30 by 20, a kitchen, of same dimensions, a smoak-meat and mill-house, all framed, and underpinn'd with brick, and closed with featheredge boards; a compleat barn, 40 by 20, floored flush with 2-inch plank, a framed poultry-house, and another house under same roof roomly enough to hold a waggon, cart, and chair, a strong and well framed stable, for 6 or 8 horses, three new corn-houses, made of 4-inch plank, capable of containing 1000 bushels of corn each, an overseer's house, a very good garden contiguous to the house, of an acre of ground, and under good clap-board palling, an orchard of 18 acres, with about 1100 fine peach, apple, white mulberry and plumb trees, from which a great quantity of peach brandy, cyder, and silk, may be made.

There is a lagoon or piece of water, in which is fixed two good pumps, with a field of 50 acres on one side of it, and and another of 35 acres on the other side, very convenient for making indico.

It may be easily demonstrated, that a person who really understands Farming, and will be industrious, may make on this farm 25 per cent. of his money, only by raising corn and pork, both very saleable at Savannah; the present owner would not fail of making that, could he give the proper attention to this farm.

Conditions of sale, ¼ of the amount to be paid in cash, and for the remaining ¾, credit will be given, upon approved security, for 3 or 4 years, paying interest. Enquire of JOHN GORDON, Esq; merchant, in Charles-Town, or Mr. THOMAS NETHERCLEFT, merchant at Savannah. Augusta, 10th January, 1769.

Charles Town, 29*th of March*, 1769.

CADE,

COVERS at Mr. Williamson's plantation, near Ractowle's-bridge, until the first of May, at THIRTY-FIVE POUNDS each Mare, and a Dollar to the Groom; and after that, at Mr. Haskins's, at Indian-Land, upon the same terms and conditions.—Any mare proving not in foal, shall be covered the following season, gratis.

N. B. No Mare will be received without the money.

 As the proprietor of CADE is desirous of having some bleeded Mares to the horse, he will admit any number of gentlemen, not exceeding twelve, to send a mare gratis, (only paying a Dollar to the Groom) provided the mare sent was got by either Pharaoh, Starling, Pam, or Brutus, with a certificate from the breeder; the certificate and mare must be sent by the first of April, and not sooner, as the horse is to be carried to the Southward in a month after, at which time it is expected those gentlemen who send mares will take them away, as Mr. Williamson's pasturage is not the best, and the mares might suffer by their neglect in not complying with this request.

MORO

WILL cover this season, any time after the 1st of April, at William Henry Drayton, Esq'rs plantation at the Horse-Shoe, at FIVE POUNDS sterling each Mare, and Two Dollars to the Groom.
